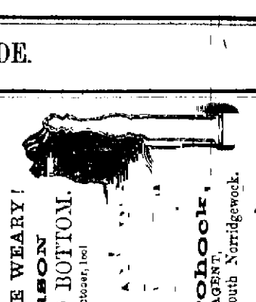
ATLANTIC MONTHLY, for February, now ready
ja22 H P. DAVIS



P. K. FROBOCK,
GENERAL AGENT,
Post Office Address, South Norridgewock.

THIS desirable mechanical arrangement has now been in use a sufficient length of time as to show that it gives entire satisfaction, and especially in the more valued the more it is tried This invention is a step in advance of all others in this department, and is rapidly coming into deserved favor and manufacture as soon as possible These salt works are largely increasing the demand not only for staves but also for cord wood

From present indications it is believed that in no part of the Western country will the increase of population and the rise in real estate be so rapid, as in the valley of the Saginaw for the next two years

Also the Company will offer at auction, on the first day of July next, at the town of Muskegon on Lake Michigan about twenty four thousand acres, all situate upon the waters of the Muskegon The pine is of excellent quality, and especially adapted to the Chicago market

There are a dozen large steam mills near the mouth of the river alongside of which vessels can load There is up in the west branch of the State, no river where so large an amount of business is done as upon the Muskegon The quantity of cut last year was sixty million of feet These lands are especially worthy of the attention of lumbermen in Chicago and Milwaukee

The Company has its office at Detroit, a full description of the quality and quantity of timber upon nearly forty acre tract, as well of the quality of the soil and the best descriptions are open for the inspection of any one who may wish to see them

A catalogue of the lands divided into groups as they will be offered for sale can be had on application by letter or otherwise to the subscriber, at Detroit or to

J W BROOKS Esq, Pres't Mich Cen R R, Boston
Terms The lands will be offered at a minimum price of three dollars per acre, one fourth cash to be paid on the day of sale and the remainder in three equal annual payments with interest annually at seven per cent, payable at the Company's office in Detroit.

To those who may wish to pay the full amount of their lands in CASH at the time of sale, a discount of six per cent will be allowed

Contracts with purchasers will be made in accordance with the form already adopted and in use by that agency

Any additional information that may be desired will be promptly given on application to

MICHIGAN PINE LANDS.
The St. Mary's Ship Canal Company will offer
AT PUBLIC AUCTION,
On TUESDAY, the 17th of June next,
AT EAST SAGINAW,
All its lands upon the Saginaw River and its tributaries covering nearly 100,000 ACRES
Of the best Pine lands in the State These Lands, whether we regard the quality of the pine, the amount per acre, their nearness to good streams, the cheapness of logging, the ease and safety with which logs are run and held, or the facilities for manufacturing and shipping, are unsurpassed, and are worthy the attention not only of actual operators, but also of capitalists, for it is not expected that they will bring at auction one half their real value The lands were selected with the greatest care by experienced judges, and upon a comparison of the reports of different persons, who made their reports unknown to each other

The mines in the Saginaw River between Saginaw City and Bay City—a distance of fifteen miles—forty two saw mills, alongside of which vessels can lie and load The proportion of clear stuff is very large, often averaging forty per cent on a winter's logging

The Valley of The Saginaw abounds not only in pine but also in hard wood of the best quality, which is rapidly coming into demand for shipment

There are also large tracts of farming lands of excellent quality, to be had at favorable rates

In addition to all these advantages it is now demonstrated beyond the reach of doubt that the Saginaw is the most valuable salt basin in the United States It is only about fifteen months since the manufacture of salt was begun

There are now seven salt factories in operation, yielding a daily product of 500 barrels, and there are twenty-one companies more that have bought their ground and are making preparations to manufacture as soon as possible These salt works are largely increasing the demand not only for staves but also for cord wood

From present indications it is believed that in no part of the Western country will the increase of population and the rise in real estate be so rapid, as in the valley of the Saginaw for the next two years

Also the Company will offer at auction, on the first day of July next, at the town of Muskegon on Lake Michigan about twenty four thousand acres, all situate upon the waters of the Muskegon The pine is of excellent quality, and especially adapted to the Chicago market

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the ægis of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall toll to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, 'Treason's shroud!'

It is as difficult to please the union patriots as it is the rebels Both want McClellan put down, and scold terribly because he is crushing out rebellion so swiftly and effectually Pity —but it can't be helped —Portland Argus

The Lord help McClellan if he has got to be defended by the semi secess on democratic papers of the North How rebellious they are that he should have justice, and how anxious to have the rebellion "crushed out by him" This is the same class of papers which were raising the administration last year for allowing to crush it out—denouncing as unconstitutional and oppressive those measures which were absolutely necessary at the time in order to destroy the northern branch of the great conspiracy The Argus has since been professedly loyal, but it was then a supporter of Dan Rice's "peace party" can it lie, and was daily pranching about the measures of the administration to call it nothing worse Never has the cluck to tell about "the emancipationists wanting to put McClellan down" Is that better both as peace and till it has passed a decent term of probation

THE LONDON ATHENÆUM We are glad to see that a movement has been made among the prominent business men of New York to aid in the support of this excellent paper It sustains American interests abroad with great energy and ability and has been the means of disseminating in England correct views in regard to the momentous struggle in which our Republic is now engaged as well as in refuting the false hoods and calumnies that were sown broadcast by the reckless secession agents

We receive the American regularly by the attention of our former fellow citizen Wm A Cooper, Esq now of the firm of Solly, Brailey & Cooper Ship Brokers London and Liverpool Mr Cooper is now in our city but will return to England in a few days The American may be seen at our office It is published weekly, and the subscription price is 8 per annum It is a large and influential commercial as well as political intelligencer and will be found a valuable paper for business men

THE NEXT REBEL CAPITAL A correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch suggests that in case of a retreat from Richmond Danville in Pittsylvania county North Carolina will become the next rebel capital It is about 100 miles southwest from Richmond with which it is connected by railroad It is at present the terminus of the Piedmont Railroad, and Davis in his message to the Confederate Congress a few months ago recommended to commence to construct a road some 40 miles there to connect with the south ern roads, and give them a central route It has not yet been built

From the Maine Seventh

The following is an extract of a letter from Capt Charles D Gilmore of the Seventh Maine who was wounded by the explosion of a shell on the 16th ult

Corporal General Hospital
Hampton near Fortress Monroe Va
May 4th 1862

Our regiment were in the advance as skirmishers to the left wing of the army April From Young's Mills to the line of the enemy's fortifications this side of Yorktown we drove the rebel pickets before us without any loss to ourselves. We arrived at their works at half past twelve, when a brisk firing commenced and was continued until dark A continual picket fire was kept up until the 7th, when our regiment was relieved having been under fire for 54 hours Our casualities in that time were two killed, two taken prisoners (Lieut Swan and a bugler named Brown) and several wounded

From that time forward our regiment remained within range of the enemy's shells and were in some skirmish or exciting picket duty until we got well acquainted with the whistle of rifle balls, the whiz and explosion of shells and the rattle of grape and canister Seeing the great amount of lead and iron it took to destroy one man, served to make our men courageous and bold, and firmly they will for the charge or repulse to the rebels.

April 16th, I was in command of the advanced picket guard Our line was in the edge of some pine woods, in front of which, and across a field some eight or nine hundred yards, were the enemy's forts At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Vermont 6d and 8th, on my right, engaged the rebels and were briskly at the fight when an order came to me with a reinforcement, ordering me to double my line and keep a sharp watch of the enemy's movements. After making the addition to the advance line, and giving the necessary instructions, I went to the front to look after the movements of the rascals It was about 5 p m and the Vermonters were charging across the creek Shells were flying briskly, mostly to my right, but just as I was getting over a fence one exploded directly under me and under the fence When I woke up next, I found myself in the field hospital of Graham's brigade, well done up in cotton rags and plasters The extent of my injuries were—two ribs fractured, hip injured, and slight wounds in the legs, deaf in the left ear, and entire loss of motion in the left leg I was moved from there to Young's Mills, where I lay upon my back eleven days, unable to turn over or sit up. I suffered extremely for the want of a mattress or some straw to lay on as I had only a rubber and a woolen blanket in an old cot with a board bottom to lay on that the rebels had formerly used The mice held battalion drills, dress parades, &c, over me nightly, and I was always extremely pleased to see day light

I was brought here April 30th and have excellent care On the whole, I consider myself very fortunate, indeed I hope to be able to join our regiment in time to assist in hanging Jeff Davis

James Shorey of Milford, Co C, killed, Alonzo Patten, Co C supposed to be mortally wounded but hopes are now entertained of his recovery Many others are slightly wounded Co B, Joseph Pepper, killed Corporal Bixby badly if not fatally wounded Co H McKenney killed Co D, Geo McClellan of Bath, killed Co A, Corporal —— , killed I don't know what the casualties have been since I left I understand to-day that the 3d brigade were in the fight yesterday, and met with some losses, but continued in pursuit of the enemy You get the news by telegraph much sooner than I could communicate them, except some small details

This hospital was formerly a female college founded in 1851 Here the daughters of the F F V's used to romp It is very pleasantly situated on the margin of the James river, near its mouth on one side from Fortress Monroe Sewall's Point and Craney Island are in plain sight in front, and Rip Raps and the fort on the left — The once beautiful but now ruined city of Hampton, is half a mile to the right with its brick walls and chimneys standing marking the spot where the rebel hospital of a year ago, when they left at the approach of our troops Ex President Tyler's residence a hundred rods or so from here was spared and is now occupied by a host of contrabands.

SOUTH ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN MUSIC We copy from the London Court Journal, the following flattering notice of a Yankee musical artist who has been somewhat known to our people and whom we can but trust will give general gratification American talent, in all departments is becoming better appreciated than formerly in the old world

Mr Rhodolph Hall has lately had unmistakable proof of his merits at the Queens Concert Rooms which will be dwelt on by Europeans reporting to their English journals in flattering manner Mr Hall's performance must assuredly be a skilful performance to merit such a distinction, for only a few days have elapsed since the English metropolis was enthusiastic in the extreme at the singing of Home Sweet Home the Light of other Days the Rose the Gentle Lark the Last Rose of Summer and other similar pieces done by those who have heard them as I first the patriot beauty who charmed Europe with the whole of Mr Hall's performances Mr Hall has distinguished in all his pieces however difficult of execute it may be stands unsurpassed and has so truly deserving of his well earned triumphs

A PATRIOTIC MOTHER'S APPEAL The following letter, says the Boston Transcript, was received by a Captain in the Army of the Potomac from whom it came to Mr Chisholm at Portland It is the true spirit for the sons of the old Granite State to imbibe and emulate, and we commend it to all who never read it and think there perhaps it is no breach of trust to buy it before the public

April 24 1862

CAPTAIN of Company Dear Sir Permit me to say for the instruction of you when you learn that I have a son that I dearly love in your company, I am led to ask that you, in the business of your heart will really excuse the liberty I take I tell you noble, kind lad that all those who have risked their lives in their hands that have left their homes at all that was dear to them to go forth to the rescue of their country to meet all the hardships of this cruel war are noble and kind The God of Heaven bless you and them And now dear sir I will ask in regard to my dear son, and I have not heard from him for some time past and am in a sad letter but says that his health was failing I have been very anxious about him

Have you seen —— Will you please to look him out and let me know will you see that he don't suffer and if it is consistent with your business regulations will you give him a furlough to come home until his health is improved I feel as I want him to write to me and let me know how he is I presume that if he was not able to write to myself that some kind friend would write for him I feel very anxious for him he was always so kind to me, he was always a good principled boy and I hope he will ever keep pure the principles fondly cherished in his heart I know there must be much in camp life to lead to sins, but notwithstanding I have given my husband and two sons to their country's call, my baby boy, only 18 years old 25th of next May, is a little drummer boy in the 7th N H regt of Volunteers. My husband is in the Maine 5 reg ment, and my son with you But my trust is in my Heavenly Father that he will keep all those dear ones from all the snares and temptations of a camp life, that he will be round about the army as a wall of fire, to shield and protect them from those who stand ready to destroy this glorious Union, is my earnest prayer

God grant that the Stars and Stripes may yet wave over all those misguided States, and we become once more a united and happy people; and I pray earnestly to my Heavenly Father that your life, with that of my dear son, may be very precious to Him, whose eye never sleeps and whose ærial never slumbers—and, dear sir stranger though I am to you, I hope you will put your trust in God, and be not discouraged at the reverses of them, for there and patient suffering for them they that sow in tears shall reap in joy

"Mighty to save" is written on the helmet of our glorious leader, and surely He will not suffer us to be overcome if we trust in Him. He has left that promise to us in His blessed word, and now in the fulness of my heart do I ask God to encompass all our noble armies with angels—that will ever watch over them in love and mercy. And now, dear sir, I will ask you to find out my son, and tell him to write to me if he is able, if not, will you be kind enough to write for him Oh dear sir, I do feel anxious about my two dear boys in the army

Yours with respect, etc.

General Mitchell, with Colonel Sill's Ninth brigade by constructing a bridge three hundred feet long, of cotton bales, had managed during Sunday to cross Willow Creek with his whole brigade and two pieces of Captain Loomis's artillery This bridge is one of the most masterly pieces of mechanism which has yet been devised and displays some of the wonderful and original resources which General Mitchell has at hand

TELEGRAPHIC TO THE Daily Whig and Courier.

(Dispatches to the Evening Papers.)

Rebels Will Burn French Tobacco at Richmond—French Minister Discredits the Report of European Intervention—The Union Loss at Williamsburg about 2000—The Rebels Evacuating Richmond—Two of Beauregard's Regiments Attempt Desertion to the Union Ranks—A Mutiny in Consequence—Doleful Condition of the Rebel Army.

NEW YORK, 15th

The Tribune's Washington despatch says the French Minister has received notice from the French Consul at Richmond, that the rebels have formally apprised him of their intention to burn the French tobacco stored there, in case they should find it necessary to evacuate Richmond.

The French Minister discredits the rumors of European intervention in our affairs.

The House Committee on Foreign affairs has authorized Mr Gooch to report to the Senate the bill establishing diplomatic relations with Hayti and Liberia.

Released prisoners represent the treatment of our prisoners as barbarous in the extreme. They believe our prisoners—who alone remain in prison all the privates having been set free—will not be released at all. Colonel Corcoran's health is good. He is anxious to be released, and contradicts the statement that he said he would prefer to remain where he is, believing he could be of more service there, and as this is the only way in which he wishes to serve his country is on the battle field.

The World's Washington Despatch says that Governor Sprague states that our losses at Williamsburg, in killed, wounded and missing, will amount to about 2000, and that the rebel loss was not less.

He says that the battle at West Point, under General Franklin, was much more severe than at first reported, and that at least 500 of our men were taken prisoners, the enemy taking advantage of the landing of our troops. The gunboats arrived just in season to prevent Gen Franklin from a severe disaster.

The Times despatch says that Gen Burnside has very quietly put an extinguisher on C H Foster, who has so long been trying to get recognized as a member of Congress from North Carolina. He advertised to address the citizens of Newbern a few evenings since, a thing which, as General Burnside put it, he thought would be very foolish for him to do, or the General to permit. The Military Governor, appointed by the President, was to shape the policy of the Government in the State, and he could not permit anything to be done which might hereafter prove to be a source of embarrassment.

NEW YORK, 15th

A Fortress Monroe letter of the 13th instant says deserters are constantly coming in. They agree that the evacuation of Richmond is rapidly progressing and the effect of the retreating rebels is merely to hold back General McClellan's column to enable them to remove all the stores and the Government archives South. The latter says there is no matter of doubt of this.

A dispatch in the Cincinnati papers states that General Sigel and staff, with transports and troops, have passed up the Tennessee river en route for Pittsburg Landing.

WAR DEPARTMENT, 14th

Ordered: That all applications for passes to visit Fortress Monroe, Norfolk, Yorktown, or other places in the waters of the Chesapeake, be referred made to Major General John A Dix at Baltimore.

(Signed) EDWIN M STANTON,
Secretary of War.

CHICAGO, 15th

A special despatch to the Times by the steamer City of Memphis from Pittsburg Monday, says two rebel regiments from Kentucky and Tennessee had attempted to desert and come over en masse to the Federal army, but the enemy held them in check and mutiny ensued. A strong force from our advance lines was sent out to interfere and in a short time returned with 0 prisoners, mostly from the deserting regiment.

They give a doleful amount of affairs in Beauregard's army, and Louisville previous statements that the troops from the border States are disaffected. They also say there is plenty of subsistence at Corinth.

WASHINGTON, 15th

In addition to the steamers Hero and Kent, which brought hither the released Union prisoners at Yorktown, the steamer Knickerbocker has arrived with upwards of 1 0 rebels from Williamsburg.

The steamer State of Maine has also arrived with about 430, the J P Warner with 100 and the Elm City with 100 sick and wounded prisoners from various Union regiments. They are being removed to the various hospitals today.

Gen Sigel has been presented with a fine silver gilt by the ladies of St Louis. In accepting the gift he spoke as follows —

I was not born in this country. I came here [illegible] masters, the Huguenots, the Puritans and the followers of Penn, from a foreign land. But I assure you that my heart and soul are with this republic. I am bound to this country with my whole life, because I am bound to it by the union which Providence ordained, for principles for the triumph of which I have struggled and will fight from the first time I was able to do so. I am bound to this sacred soil of Missouri by the memory of those who have fallen under my eyes in the defence of the State and for the maintenance of the Union. For the Stars and Stripes they died and themselves a willing sacrifice, and I will cherish them in my heart to my last days.

DETERMINED ACCIDENT. While Wm Ward, a lad fifteen, was sailing with five of his sisters in a small boat, near Portland last Sunday, a sudden flaw of wind upset the boat, and the girls—the eldest of whom was thirteen and youngest four years old—were all drowned. Young Ward strove nobly to save them, but without avail.

☞ When Captain Boggs was asking a command he went to the President, who asked him "What do you wish to do?" His characteristic reply was, in substance "I want to bombard Charleston and to sow it with salt." "You shall have a vessel," said the President. The Secretary of the Navy gave him the choice of any vessel not yet assigned to a commander. He went through the ship yards and chose the Varuna, whose name and that of her brave commander are henceforth imperishable in our naval annals.

The London Post has a Baltimore dispatch which says—"Gen McClellan's army at York Town has been repulsed with a very loss. He has retired to Washington having failed after three days hard fighting, during which time he met many assaults, in every one of which he sustained great loss."

When people are crazy to marry they attach no consequence to consequences.

Your candid friend has never anything pleasant to say to you. His remains of his pet virtue by wounding you with it.

Sweetening one's coffee is generally the first stirring event of the day.

McClellan's Headquarters at Cumberland.

His Advance in Sight of the Enemy's Position.

News from Fort Wright.

Gen. Hunter Frees all the Slaves in his Department.

A 'Sell' from a Chicago Reporter

More Mutinies Reported in Beauregard's Army.

CUMBERLAND, Va, 14th

General McClellan's headquarters were established here yesterday, and are now pleasantly located on the banks of the river. The main body of the army is rapidly concentrating at the point designated by the commanding general. The quartermasters' and commissary stores are in abundance.

The advance guard of the army, under Gen Stoneman, still remains at White House, within sight of the enemy's position.

A contraband who arrived from Richmond yesterday states that between that city and the Chickahominy river a distance of some seventeen miles the enemy are encamped in large force, where they expect to await the arrival of the army of the Potomac.

As the rebels fall back they drive before them most of the cattle, sheep and hogs, leaving only such things as they cannot remove.

Two explosions were heard yesterday in the direction of the Chickahominy, which were supposed to have been caused by the blowing up of the railroad bridge.

NEW YORK, 15th

The Post says that advices per Catawba state that General Hunter has issued a proclamation freeing the slaves in his department, and that he was organizing a negro brigade and had enrolled some 600 to train the contrabands to the use of arms.

Hon Chas J Ingersoll died at Philadelphia, yesterday.

CHICAGO 15th

A special to the Tribune from Fort Wright [illegible] says: Last evening the rebels commenced shelling from place from behind Craig Head Point which, until yesterday was occupied by our mortar boats. They kept up a fire during the night, the shells bursting wide of the mark. They are provided with mortars equal in weight of metal to those used by the Federal fleet—Captain Winslow was despatched by the mail steamer yesterday to St Louis for the purpose of bringing our rams to this place as soon as possible.

The gunboat Louisville which has been stationed at Hickman, has joined the fleet. Preparations have been completed on all the gunboats here which, in the opinion of the ablest engineers will most effectually render useless any rebel contrivance of the ram species.

CAIRO, 15th

An expedition consisting of six squadrons of the 1st Wisconsin Cavalry from Cape Girardeau, went to Blomfield on Saturday and early on Sunday morning fell upon the rebel General Phillips camp scattering them in every direction with one killed and fifty-three. A large number of horses and a quantity of camp equipage and ammunition were also taken.

A rebel force numbering 500 or 600 infest Chalk and Poplar Bluffs, impressing all the men the country is being swept of horses cotton and supplies which are sent South. The country is represented to be in a state of great terror.

The following is a special to the Chicago Tribune.

When General Mitchell joined his forces with those of Pope he brought with him 2500 prisoners. They will be sent to Cairo as soon as transportation can be obtained.

In the battle at Farmington no rebel General was killed, supposed to be Bragg.

Fifteen deserters came into our lines from Corinth yesterday. They report that several more regiments have mutinied. Among them were one Louisiana, one Alabama, and two Tennessee regiments.

WASHINGTON, 15th

The news received at the War Department today, but of yesterday, from the armies of Generals McClellan and Halleck indicates that preparations are going on, but no movement or engagement of importance had taken place.

WASHINGTON, 15th

The House Committee of Commerce has reported back bills to facilitate the collection of customs in New York and establishing an office of Solicitor of Customs, the consideration of which was postponed.

The Navy Department has appointed Frederick A Barry of Boston, Acting Master's Mate.

WASHINGTON, 15th

The sick who arrived to lay in the Elm City under charge of the Sanitary Commission, are receiving every attention and prompt provision has been made for their reception into the hospitals here. The passage was made with comfort. There have arrived within the last two days afloat 1500 of our sick from the South and others are soon expected.

CHICAGO, 15th

A special to the Tribune from Cairo says—The subjoined circular from Jeff Davis ex plains itself:

"PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

Capital, C S A, Richmond, Apr 18

Sir: It can no longer be denied that the prospects of the success of the Southern Confederacy are gloomy and forbidding. On every hand whether through lack of skill or the open treachery of the officers of our army and navy, it must be confessed we have met with disaster and defeat. With a continuance of such results, ere three months shall have passed away our boasted Confederacy will exist only in history.

The past shows that we need larger displays of patriotism military skill, personal bravery, and a firm spirit of devotion to the great cause in which we have enlisted. Unless these requirements develop themselves to a fitting extent we fight in vain—unless we have more clear indications that the great heart of the people is with us our efforts will be futile. The government is impotent to retrieve the disasters that have befallen us, and that yet stare us in the face on every hand, unless the people rally to its assistance.

McClellan is already moving on the Potomac; Halleck's operations in the Southwest are at every step successful against us, the Federal army and navy are already menacing the Metropolis of the Southwest, and the key to our granaries (Florida) is overrun by Northern invaders, while, wherever we look, we perceive an advancing army, and in this terrible emergency [illegible] the government appeals to the [illegible] brave hearts and sturdy wills of the South it offers. Awake! your hands have been put to the plow, and will you now look back and repent of your past acts? You have struck out nobly for independence, pledging your lives and fortunes to its procurement. Will you submit quietly to invasion and the desolation of your homes, the destruction or confiscation of your property and the abasement of your cherished institutions? Arise and convince the world that the boasted chivalry of the South is more than a traditional myth.

This appeal is made to the country, not openly, for obvious reasons. We make this appeal to the people through the Governors of the several States, comprising the Confederacy, and the officers in command of our armies. To these mediums the circular is sent, with the urgent request that its spirit, if not its letter, be conveyed to every citizen of our struggling Republic.

First of all, we ask for material aid in money or such equivalent therefor as will enable us to maintain our army. Clothing and provisions will be acceptable as substitutes for money, whenever the latter cannot be obtained.

Second, we need men. The ranks of our army in the field are constantly being thinned by the casualties of battle, the sickness incident to camp life, and the expiration of enlistments. We cannot close our eyes to the fact that the places are not filled as promptly as should be. Let us see the devotion of the country to our cause by their willingness to fight its battles, and, if need be, pour out their blood in its support.

Third, We need the encouraging of the people by a more liberal display of patriotism than has yet been made. The tame submission yielded to the invaders whenever he appears, is in striking contrast to the bold we hitherto made of the readiness that prevailed on every hand to welcome the hirelings with bonfires composed of the dwellings and property of the people. If our land is to be overrun and the people subjugated, let us leave our conquerors a smouldering waste to reward them for their toil and pains.

Burn every village, hamlet and city, give the torch freely to your cotton and houses, let the product of your lives be laid waste, by yourselves before the invaders where resistance shall no longer avail, and thus display a determination and spirit in the cause in which we are all enlisted which will give us encouragement to continue the struggle!

Whenever the enemy obtains a victory, let it be a bootless victory, so that their bands, left on by the hope of plunder, be discouraged, and we cheered, by the manifestations of heroism and patriotism.

Once more we exhort you to awake and shake off the lethargy that hangs on you, strike for the freedom of yourselves, your families, and your homes—strike promptly and boldly, and our confederacy may yet be firmly established. This is our last and only resource.

Those who receive this circular will be also summoned, as agents of the government, to advance the purpose advocated. Full letters of instructions will be furnished to them.

(Signed) JEFFERSON DAVIS,
President Confederate States of America.

STRASBURG, Va, 13th

The rebel cavalry, in small parties, hover around our front, apparently watching our movements and hunting deserters.

General Hatch frustrated an attempt of the rebels to flank our advanced post, at Narrow Passage Creek last night, without an engagement.

There is nothing later from General Milroy. Railroad repairing is progressing, and communication here will be accomplished this week.

NEW YORK, 15th

Arrived Bark Ovarilla, Cadiz.

KANSAS CITY, 15th

The Santa Fe mail has arrived with Fort Craig dates of the 23d.

General Canby was at that place with his command whence it was presumed he would move to Manilla in a short time.

The Texans were on the retreat down the river. They had abandoned 35 of their wagons and burned some of their guns. When they crossed the Rueros river near its junction with the Rio Grande, they separated into small parties and fled to the mountains, abandoning their sick, and all those who could not travel with the requisite speed.

It is thought that the enemy will not make another stand in the territory, but would endeavor to get home.

One hundred wagon loads of provisions, which had been collected at Santa Fe, were sent to Fort Union on the 24d.

CHICAGO, 15th

The Times's special from Cairo says the famous secret circular purporting to emanate from Jeff Davis, was got up in this city by a reporter as a sell.

THE GREAT FIRE IN TROY. The fire which occurred in Troy on Saturday appeared to have started in the roof of the railroad bridge which crosses the Hudson River from West to East Troy and originated from a spark of a locomotive that crossed the bridge about noon. The fire caught about the middle of the bridge. There was a high wind blowing from the northwest early in the morning, and, as the day advanced, the wind increased in strength, until at noon, when it might fairly be termed a gale. In a few minutes the entire eastern portion of the bridge was on fire, and the flames were being driven along by the wind with fearful rapidity, and directly towards the rear of the city. At the east end, one of the steam fire engines laid down their hose, but it was hardly stretched before it had to be taken up, so fast did the fire crowd upon them. At the same time an attempt was made to pull open the "draw," in the hope that this would check the progress of the flames, but the great heat, together with the dense smoke and the dust, rend red the effort futile, and on swept the fire, driving the firemen before it, and overleaping all their attempts to command it. As the fire reached the east end of the bridge, clouds of cinders were blown over the city in a southeasterly direction, setting fire to a dozen or more buildings at the same time. Among the first build ngs to take fire were the Sixth Street Presbyterian Church, the Troy Orphan Asylum, and the Troy City Bank. Extraordinary exertions were made to save these structures, but without avail.

The erratic course of the fire, in some instances, was remarkable. Here and there one would find a wooden building standing unscathed, while every building on either side of it, whether of brick or wood, had been destroyed.

When the fire was raging fiercest, Mayor Thorn determined to try the efficacy of powder, and sending a messenger over to West Troy, it was not long before an ordnance squad from the Arsenal was detailed to report to him. Soon after 3 o'clock, under his directions, this party applied the powder, and several buildings on State street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, were blown up, but the wind soon drove the flames over the gap thus made, and the fire raged as fearfully as ever on the other side.

The rapidity with which the fire spread precluded the possibility of saving much. Before a store could be half emptied of its contents, it was on fire, and burning so rapidly as to render it necessary for those about it to run for their lives, leaving whatever had been removed to the street to be destroyed there. Thus, too, with scores of families, and we heard of many instances where the furniture had been moved two and three times, only to be left to the flames at last. Few fires have ever been more disastrous in this respect.

About 6 P M it seemed to have spent its strength and found its limit, as if exhausted by its own violence rather than subdued by human means, and there lay the finest portion of Troy, a heap of ruins—nothing left save the many tottering walls. Commencing at the long bridge, it pursued a southeasterly direction, sweeping away block after block—first stores then dwellings and public buildings, until it reached the old Tibbetts Mansion on Congress street, near Eighth. The number of houses destroyed cannot be less than 600, and it is roughly estimated that the loss is between two and three millions of dollars, about one-third of which, it is thought is covered by insurance.

THE OPENING OF SOUTHERN PORTS.—The circular of Secretary Chase, permitting trade with the ports of Beaufort, N C, Port Royal and New Orleans, provides that vessels clearing from foreign ports shall obtain licenses from Consuls of the United States, upon satisfactory evidence that the vessels so licensed will convey no person, property, or information contraband of war, either to or from the said ports; the license to be exhibited to the Collector of the port on arrival, and, if required, to any officer in charge of the blockade. On leaving port, a clearance from the Collector, showing that there has been no violation of the conditions of the license, will be required. Violations of these conditions will work the forfeiture of the vessel and cargo, and exclusion of the parties concerned from the U. States during the continuance of the war. Vessels of the United States clearing coastwise will obtain the license of the Treasury Department. In all other respects the existing blockade remains in full force and effect as heretofore established and maintained.

Active preparations are making in New York for the occupation of Mobile with one Orleans [illegible]

MOBILE.—Com Porter's mortar fleet began to arrive off Mobile on the 8th inst., and Com Farragut was on his way thither at the last accounts. The whole naval force has, doubtless, before this opened its fire on Fort Morgan, the chief defence of Mobile Bay and the city of Mobile. It is a strong fort, but nothing near equal to Fort Jackson, on the Mississippi, and its fall therefore is certain, and probably speedy. The depth of water round Fort Morgan is from twenty-four to thirty feet, so that our largest ships will have the most convenient room for operations. From Fort Morgan to Mobile, which is situated at the head of the Bay, is thirty miles, and only vessels of eight feet draft can go to the wharves. But the fall of the fort includes that of the city—Mobile has upwards of twenty-five thousand inhabitants. Two lines of railroad connect it with the north—one going through Corinth, where Beauregard's army now is, and the other leading northeast through Montgomery. The Mobile river, also, through its two main branches, is navigable for nearly two hundred miles in Alabama and Mississippi. It will be seen therefore that the capture of Mobile is of great importance in a strategic point of view, as it will give us the command of the region in which the Confederate hosts, if beaten elsewhere, hope to find their "last ditch."

EFFECTS OF THE BLOCKADE AT NEW ORLEANS.—A copy of the New Orleans price current, embracing a summary of the year's business, ending March 1, 1862, has been sent to the Navy Department by one of the officers of the Gulf Squadron. It appears from this journal that the exports of cotton for the past year from New Orleans have been eleven thousand bales, against one and a half millions the previous year.

The exports from all the Southern ports have been only thirteen thousand bales, against more than two millions the previous year. Exports of tobacco from New Orleans, nothing, against seventeen thousand hogsheads last year. Imports—Specie, nothing, against $12,000 000 the previous year; coffee, 800 bags, against 250,000 bags, salt, nothing, against 250,000 sacks.—Who says New Orleans has not been efficiently blockaded?

FIRE. At the time of going to press, two buildings on the lower end of Pine street, owned by Charles L Marston, and occupied by Mrs Lovejoy, Mr Webber, Mrs Hilton, and others, are in flames. The old Foster House, on Hancock street, is also on fire.

MR W A BELL

Dear Sir —I have used HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and am satisfied from an experience in all other preparations for the like purpose that it is the only article ever before the public worth purchasing

Yours truly, JOHN G DALY

PADUCAH, KY, July 27, 1860

MESSRS W E HAGAN & CO Troy N Y

Gents —Above please find statement of Mr John G Daly, a merchant of our city in regard to HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. This testimony is given after having used most of the preparations now before the public claiming to be Hair Restoratives, and must be considered conclusive as to the merits of the Inimitable. Am out of the large size. Forward by Railroad double the quantity we had before

Very truly yours, W A BELL

IT WILL RESTORE THE NATURAL COLOR OF THE HAIR,

where age or sickness has turned it grey, and it will render it soft and glossy who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots gives new life and strength to the Hair and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article for the toilet has no equal.

MESSRS W E HAGAN & CO

I hereby certify that my Hair having become gray and my head partially bald I bought from Henry Reynolds Druggist one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use my Hair was restored to its original color and thickness, it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any Hair Preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen my intimate friends who all speak of the Inimitable as being the best and cheapest Hair Preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WILLIAM BOSBYSHALL

ST LOUIS MO, Aug 2, 1860

MESSRS W E HAGAN & Co, Troy, N Y —Gents The happy results attending the use of Heimstreet's Inimitable (in every sense of the word) Hair Restorative, seems to demand that I should give my testimony that other ladies might profit by it. I have never used a hair preparation that I liked so well. It has completely restored every hair that was grey to the color it was in girlhood and has brought it out thick and healthy. I was induced to use the article by Mr Reynolds your Agent here. If this letter will of any service you may publish it.

Very respectfully yours

To the Mechanic and Manufacturer

No person engaged in any of the mechanical or manufacturing pursuits should think of doing without the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. It costs but four cents per week, every number contains from six to ten engravings of new machines and inventions, which cannot be found in any other publication. It is an established rule of the publishers to insert none but original engravings, and those of the first class in the art, drawn and engraved by experienced persons under their own supervision.

To the Inventor

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an Official List of the claims of all the Patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the week previous; thus giving a correct history of the progress of invention in this country. We are also receiving, every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain France, and Germany thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers

PREMIUMS AND REDUCTIONS!

L. SCOTT & CO New York continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals viz

1 The London Quarterly, (Conservative
2 The Edinburgh Review, (Whig,
3 The North British Review, Free Church
4 The Westminster Review, (Liberal)
5 Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news items, crude speculations and flying rumors of the daily Journal and the ponderous Tome of the future historian written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events and as such in addition to their well established literary scientific and theological character we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these Reprints inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions
